Hollywood & Broadway: A Fine Romance

Around the time Eddie Cantor was "Makin' Whoopee," a dashing young Hollywood spotted old Dame Broadway across a crowded country. He flirted until she could resist no longer. Thus began a beautiful relationship -- filled with creativity, intrigue and, of course, romance -- that has lasted nearly a century. Experience this remarkable tale, beautifully told through backstage stories, delectable anecdotes, and the best music of both worlds.

I Get a Kick Out of New Newfound Treasures & Reimagined Classics

There really are great songs being written today. You may not hear them on the radio or in the latest Broadway show, but they're out there in abundance. Clever and witty, lyrical and touching... just like the songs of old. Join Hilary as she presents a trove of these modern treasures, along with some old classics polished up new.

Setting New Standards: the Great American Songbook Past, Present and Future

Have you ever wondered what makes a standard a standard? Why are songs from the Tin Pan Alley era so much a part of the public consciousness? Will the songs of today ever become standards? If so, what songs will those be, and who is writing them? Join Hilary for a fascinating exploration of standards through time. From Berlin to the Beatles, from old Broadway to contemporary Cabaret, the songs that stay with us.

Femme Forte:

A Century of Women Songwriters

Everyone knows the names Jerome Kern and Harold Arlen, but very few know the name Dorothy Fields. In a career that spanned nearly half a century, Dorothy was responsible for the lyrics to over 400 songs, many of which are now standards in our Great American Songbook. Femme Forte is filled with fascinating stories and marvelous songs celebrating some of the greatest women songwriters of the last century -- known and unknown, young and old -- and their contributions to our Great American Songbook.

Holiday Bazaar

Filled with surprises, just as holidays should be, this Bazaar is a sackful of songs to make audiences laugh and cry and hold their loved ones close. A veritable schmorgasbord of off-the-beaten-path holiday gems (with some good ol' festive standards thrown in for good measure), this unique holiday show will not disappoint. Can't tell you any more than that... or it'll ruin the surprise!
